

Day one of Intelligentsia Cup 2023 is officially wrapped!

Congrats to everyone who defeated Leg Breaker Hill for an epic win on day one!

A few reminders:

- Please wear your numbers US Crit style (do NOT fold them). We have an awesome diagram on page 4 of the Tech Guide 😊.
- We are so fortunate to be able to race in some incredible towns. Remember to be respectful and pick up after yourself so we are invited back next year.

Hopefully you all have refueled and are resting for another day of full send awesomeness. If you are, now is a perfect time to go over some important highlights for tomorrow.

- Glen Ellyn is our first stop on the journey to the Triple Crown!
- Racer parking is across the railroad tracks to the south of the course. We are in a primarily residential area, so please be courteous to the residents that are allowing us to use this wonderful course.
- Tacos and Burritos, Chicago-style dogs, beverages, and Italian ice available in the park as well as our party deck at the Lake Ellyn boathouse serving Alter Brewing products.
- There are a bunch of restaurants in town - just an 8-10 minute walk if you desire a sit down place. Nobel House for smoked meats and BBQ, A Toda Madre for high-end Mexican, Santa Fe for more budget friendly Mexican, Maize & Mash for craft cocktails and food, fire + wine for Italian though you're not likely to get in before 9 PM, Main Street Pub for burgers.
- No matter how tempting and refreshing it may look, please don't you purify yourself in the waters of Lake Ellyn. Should you somehow end up there, best to take a shower ASAP.
- We've attached the map for tomorrow. Have fun, be safe, full send.
